Niles Merchant Found Dead After Double Wife Mixup

The strain of leading a double life apparently caught up last Saturday with Alfred C. Hagerty, 42, Niles television merchant.

Hagerty was found dead of exhaust-fume poisoning in his station wagon in the garage of his wife, Ruth, 29, in Oakland. She had sued him for divorce two days earlier, charging he had been living illicitly with another woman in Newark since April.

However, it turned out, Hagerty also was married last December in Reno to the former Dorothy Mae Calderia Roche, 21, and had been living as her husband with her and two children by a former marriage, most recently in a home on Niles-Alvarado Road.

He also has three children by the Oakland marriage. Authorities were seeking him for questioning when his body was found.

Hagerty came here from Livermore in November and opened a television shop at 742 First Street. He spent part of the week here, part in Oakland.

In Oakland, the first Mrs. Hagerty said she became suspicious of her part-time spouse several weeks ago, and finally was able to worm a confession from him last Thursday.

She said Hagerty came to her home in San Leandro Saturday in her absence, drove into the garage and apparently left the car's motor running until he was asphyxiated. She found him slumped over the wheel. No notes were discovered, authorities said.

Mrs. Hagerty added they had been married 10 years ago while Hagerty was serving in the Air Force.

"Al hasn't been well since he was involved in a terrible accident on the Bay Bridge when he was a bus driver two years ago," the first Mrs. Hagerty related. "He was badly injured, and 12 passengers were burned."

She asked customers of the local store to contact her, saying Hagerty's business records are in chaos, and that she and her children are destitute. Hagerty also leaves his mother and an invalid father in Oakland.

YOUTH DIES HERE IN TRUCK CRASH

A truck loaded with peaches went out of control in Mission Pass late yesterday and the resulting crash killed a 17-year-old passenger from Porterville and seriously injured his brother, the driver.

Dead is Donald L. Lassley, who was spilled from the runaway truck one mile east of Highway 9. Hurt was Edward Lassley, 21, also of Porterville.

The truck leaped the bank and careened up a steep slope on the south side of the road, then hurtled down the bank, lurched across the road, and part-way into the creek bed below.

The dead youth's body was taken to the Chapel of the Palms. The wreck tied up traffic to Livermore for more than an hour.

ROSE'S ROAD BY ANY OTHER NAME IS A QUARRY

Norman Rose, Niles rancher who is improving his dirt road east of Ellsworth Orchard to quarry proportions, was invited to explain why this week by the local Chamber of Commerce.

Jack Prouty, who owns the land below Rose, had complained Rose's bulldozers and dump trucks were making unsightly scars on the bare hillside and creating a hazard to a future school in the area.

But individual members asked each other what, if any, legal action can be taken to halt a man digging on his own property. Rose claims he is merely widening the hillside road, and that he is using the dirt to improve its other stretches.

At Prouty's request, several Chamber committeemen drove to the site to observe Rose's operations. Then at the urging of John Brahmst, they voted to ask Rose to appear at next Tuesday's meeting to declare his intentions about a quarry.

NO CHAMBER SESSION

Because of the Labor Day holiday next Monday, Centerville's Chamber of Commerce will skip its weekly meeting, according to President William Clark.

HELLO FRIENDS!

Many of you already know—and value—the Township Register. More of you are reading it today for the first time. We hope you new friends like it and will subscribe for it.

Established readers realize and appreciate The Register as a vital, constructive factor in the progress and development of Washington Township.

- It emphasizes local events and problems
- It projects the local merchant's display windows into your own home
- It affords a medium through which individual and collective thoughts can find utterance.

We have staked our newspaper background, future, and money on the proposition that The Register can participate actively, positively—and profitably—in the development and advancement of Washington Township.

Frankly, we need your support and you (why should we be modest) need The Register's help in achieving the kind of environment we all want to live in.

Our current issue was delivered to 5,000 homes in Niles, Centerville, Decoto, Newark, Irvington, Alvarado, Mission San Jose and Warm Springs. There was no charge for this service.

We urge you to carefully read our paper, not only this issue, but subsequent issues.

Please subscribe for The Register. It costs less than six cents a week to know what's going on in your community.

RITES HELD FOR IRVINGTON MAN

Funeral rites for William Ramsell, 77, of Irvington were held from the Berge Mortuary this morning, with mass at St. Joseph's Church, Mission San Jose.

A native of Mission San Jose, the aged man succumbed Tuesday to a lingering illness in Oakland.

He is survived by his widow, Mary, of Irvington; and by the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Anna Allender, Irvington; William Ramsell, Castro Valley; Phillip Ramsell, Centerville; Eugene Ramsell, Centerville; Mrs. Helen Gomes, Irvington; and Mrs. May Nunes, San Leandro; also by 19 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Sports Clubhouse

Plans for their new clubhouse were discussed at a meeting last week of the Washington Township Sportsmen's Club in Roethlin's Cafe.

The 40x70-foot building is to be located on the club's range between Mission San Jose and Warm Springs.

President Al Caeton Jr. introduced two new members, Joseph Moretti and Ivor Noksiki. The club:

1. Voted to donate $50 to the Huskies baseball team.
2. Voted $100 to the Irvington Boy Scout Troop.
3. Offered its club grounds for an American Legion barbecue.

ARTHUR COTTON VIES FOR SANITARY BOARD JOB; VOTE SET FOR SEPT. 15

For the first time in years, a seat on the Union Sanitary District board of directors will be contested at the September 15 election.

This was assured Tuesday as Arthur Cotton, Newark builder, filed for one of the two jobs which will be the subject of balloting on that date. Tuesday was the filing deadline.

CENTERVILLE ASKS ROAD SURVEY

Centerville's Chamber of Commerce this week asked the State Division of Highways to start a survey of future east-west traffic routes between Niles and Newark.

The request was prompted by a report from Eugene Manning that no planning on such routes has been done. Manning also criticized State reasoning on using Thornton Avenue as a feeder for the coming Freeway.

"It's all for the convenience of the subdividers," Manning charged. He said a highway engineer, Harold Summers, told the Township Chamber a subdivider had planned a tract around a "cloverleaf" at Thornton and that the State bureau probably would hesitate to disturb the plan.

Manning also stressed Summers' statement that no planning for future east-west routes has been done between Newark and the Freeway or between Highway 17 and Niles.

"It's asinine," he declared.

Upon Ralph Goodwin's motion, the chamber moved to petition the State for plans in the area specified.

LEE NEW PREXY OF YOUNG GOP HERE

Organizational meeting of the newly-formed Washington Township Young Republicans was held Monday at Washington Union High School.

Officers elected were: president, Jack Powell Lee; first vice-president, King Cole; second vice-president, E. E. Peace; recording secretary, Gertrude Dutra; corresponding secretary and treasurer, Sally H. Lee; directors, Everett DeSalles, Vernon Ellsworth and Elsworth Finlay; delegates to Alameda County Young Republican executive committee, Lester Whitaker, and Imogene Jacobs.

A constitution for the unit was adopted and precinct chairmen appointed for township areas. Next meeting will be held late in September.

Township Schools Set for That Many

Most Township schools will open September 8, and principals this week estimated nearly 4600 pupils will be registered—an all-time high.

Following is a list of schools, opening dates, and new teachers: HIGH SCHOOL

Anticipating an enrollment of just under 1,000, Washington Union High School in Centerville will open its doors September 8 for registration, to close again on September 9 for the observance of Admission Day, and will resume classes on September 10, according to Supt. J. V. Gould.

Among those added to the faculty for this year is Joseph P. Patrick Jr., a graduate of Stanford University. He will teach Spanish. William Rapp, a graduate of California Polytechnic in San Luis Obispo, will be the new agriculture teacher. Teaching English and dramatics will be Ronald M. Lambert, former teacher at San Andreas High. Mrs. Pearl Bowman will take over the cafeteria and home-making departments. She received her training at Oregon State and Arizona State.

NILES

E. Dixon Bristow, principal, anticipates an enrollment of 750 students. Last year's enrollment didn't quite reach the 700 mark.

School will open September 8, with the following new teachers added: Mrs. Mary Mason, Washington; Maurice Richmond, San Jose; Martin Brassill, San Jose; Joseph Bailey, San Leandro; Mrs. Roxie Surface, Niles; James Carlson, San Leandro; Nathan Click, Centerville; and Mrs. Winifred Enos, Niles.

NEWARK

Construction delays on the new school addition will postpone school opening until September 15, Supt. Jack MacGregor announced today.

Newark Elementary School enrollment will top 500, MacGregor estimates, an increase of 30 students over last year.

Sole new teacher will be Robert Lamp, former eighth grade instructor at Irvington.

CENTERVILLE

Principal Tom Maloney announces classes will start September 8. The cafeteria will be open for the first day of school.

Two new members of the faculty are Mrs. Miriam Nuttall of (Continued on page 8)

JOHN WILLIAMSON TAKES BRIDE AT CEREMONY PERFORMED IN HAYWARD

Mary Alice Harris was married to John M. Williamson Jr. of Hayward last Saturday in Eden Congregational Church, Hayward.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard Norberg, pastor, with Dwight Thornburg of Centerville furnishing the wedding music. Decorations of white gladioli and candles were arranged by Mr. John A. McDonald of Mission San Jose.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, who flew west to escort his daughter to the altar. Her maid of honor was Miss Mary Ellen Fishbach of Berkeley, and the flower girl was Jennifer Flesher of Modesto, niece of the groom. Lieut. (j.g.) Roland Muir Bendel of Carmel was best man and the ushers were Richard Minger and Richard Quist, both of Hayward.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the garden at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Gladys Williamson of Niles.

After a week's honeymoon in Northern California, the couple will reside in Hayward.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Harris of California, Pennsylvania, where she was graduated from the State Teachers College in 1949. She has been teaching at Whittier School in Berkeley for the past two years.

The groom is a graduate of Washington Union High School, Centerville, and attended California Polytechnic School and the University of California. He served with the Army Medical Corps in the Pacific.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Harold W. Flesher of Modesto, sister of the groom; Mrs. Roland Bendel Sr., Mrs. Tom Robbins, Mrs. John Nuttall, all of Niles; Mrs. Arthur Case of Hayward, Mrs. James Stanhope of Langley Field, Virginia, Mrs. Frank Lombardi of San Francisco, and Mrs. Roland Bendel Jr. of Carmel.

Bettencourt-Lewis Nuptials Sunday

A romance that began when both were students at Washington High, will lead Elaine Bettencourt and Sgt. Joseph Lewis to the altar this Sunday.

They will exchange marriage vows at a nuptial mass to be performed at noon at Holy Ghost Church in Centerville. A reception at the Country Clubhouse in Centerville will be held immediately following the ceremony.

Elaine, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bettencourt of Centerville, is employed at the Centerville post office.

The young sergeant, who returned from a year's duty in Korea only a couple of weeks ago, is the son of Mrs. Marie Lewis of Centerville. He will resume working for the telephone company after he receives his discharge, set for three months from now. He expects to be stationed at Monterey prior to that time.

The young couple plan on making Tahoe their honeymoon destination.

Sixteenth Birthday

David Brown of Niles celebrated his sixteenth birthday August 24 with a picnic lunch in Niles Canyon. Guests were his mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, and brother Mitchell, Maureen Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Flint and sons, all of Niles, Mrs. Vincent Flint of Machado's Corner, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Bradshaw and son, Michael, of Belmont.

About the Lewis Family

Mrs. L. L. Lewis of Niles has just returned from the Lewis summer cottage in Boulder Creek. Spending the week-end with her were her daughter, Charlotte, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Holloway, and Mrs. Lewis' brother, George Gear of San Leandro.

Plans are being made for a three-day Labor Day holiday at the cabin by all the Lewis family, and, of course, Mr. Lewis shows up when there's work to be done. He has just recently been voted in as a member of the board of directors of the San Lorenzo Woods Water and Improvement Association.

New Officers for Welfare Club

Mrs. A. B. Hill Jr. of Alvarado was installed Monday as president of the Child Welfare Club at a picnic luncheon held at the Ellsworth home in Niles. She succeeds Mrs. Allan Walton of Centerville.

Other new officers are: Mrs. Allan Hirsch, vice-president; Mrs. Ted Logan, secretary; an Mrs. Marsten Dassell, treasurer.

From Honolulu

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dennis of Niles last Sunday were Mr. Dennis' sister, Mrs. Robert Eckert of Honolulu, and Mrs. Eckert's daughter, Edith Lou. The two families motored over to Stanford where Miss Eckert has enrolled as a freshman.

First Time in Twenty-five Years

A reunion with his sister, whom he hadn't seen for 25 years, was a milestone last week in the life of Mr. Charles Caldwell of Niles.

He had last seen his sister, Mrs. Ocie Covington, in Oklahoma City, her home, just a quarter of a century ago. Last week she decided to make her first trip to California. The two met in Niles, recalled their childhood in Oklahoma, went over the family Bible together to put some twigs together on the family tree, and then Mrs. Covington went on her way—to Los Angeles to visit her married daughter.

Seventy-five Years Old

Mrs. Maren Flint of Niles celebrated her seventy-fifth birthday last Friday by having a few friends in for the afternoon.

That evening she was presented with an orchid corsage by her son, Louis Flint, and then was taken out to dinner with the rest of Lou's family.

When they returned home, other friends and relatives called during the evening to felicitate Mrs. Flint. A birthday cake made by Mrs. Rose Marie Valles of Newark was served.

Saturday Barbecue

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burned of Irvington entertained the following guests at a barbecue last Saturday: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Evans of Los Altos, Mr. and Mrs. V. Vanrunegun of Sunnyvale, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Burned of Irvington, and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Krueger of Irvington.

Return from Dardanelles

Mrs. Rose Stearns of Niles has returned home after a two-week vacation at Dardanelles. In the party were her son, Lloyd, and wife and children of San Leandro; also Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford and family of San Leandro, and Mrs. Crawford's mother, Mrs. Thompson.

Quintet

Dr. and Mrs. Frank McMahon of Irvington are receiving congratulations upon the birth of their fifth child, Shannon Robert, born August 19 at San Jose Hospital. The baby weighed seven pounds at birth.

In St. Louis

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bernardo and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Silva of Centerville are headed towards St. Louis. They plan to spend three weeks there visiting friends.

Home from Colorado

Betty Grau, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E.C. Grau, arrived home yesterday from Colorado where she attended summer session at the University of Colorado. She will return to the University for the fall term.

To Ensenada

Mr. and Mrs. Jean Van Ophem of Niles left Monday for Ensenada, Mexico, to spend a week or two.

New Home Owners

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wild, who formerly occupied a home near the Kraftile Company, are moving into their new home on Oliver Way in Niles Manor. Mr. Wild is associated with Kraftile, and before coming here the family lived in Cleveland, Ohio.

Move to Sacramento

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis are fairly settled by now in their new home in Sacramento. They have rented their home here in Niles to the Claude Hamm family.

From New Orleans

Mrs. Francis Menge is a houseguest of the Bruce Michaels of Warm Springs. Originally a San Franciscan, Mrs. Menge now claims New Orleans as her home town. She will be here until the first of September.

Home from Hospital

Mrs. Ed Haynes of Irvington, who was stricken a week ago Tuesday and rushed to San Jose Hospital for an operation, returned home Tuesday and is recuperating.

Dinner Guests

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kuhne of Irvington were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Johnson and daughter of Newark.

In San Diego

Mrs. Kermit Shaaf and two daughters are in San Diego this week visiting relatives.

In Volcano

The M. L. Fourniers of Niles have returned home after an extended vacation in Volcano.

ASK STOP LIGHTS AT NILES CANYON

Agitation for stop lights at the Niles Canyon intersection or a 35-mile speed limit at the site was revived this week by Clifford K. Dennis, before the Niles Chamber of Commerce.

Dennis recalled that a State engineer reported the Niles-Hayward Highway eventually is to be widened to four lanes.

"This certainly doesn't mean they expect traffic decrease when the Freeway is finished, as we've been led to believe," Dennis declared.

Then he demanded a revival of requests to the State Division of Highways either for lights or a 35-mile speed limit "with teeth in it." Secretary Vernon Ellsworth agreed to write the State Bureau repeating requests made several years ago.

L&V BESTS FORGE, VFW TRIMS OLWELL FOR SOFTBALL FINAL BERTH TONIGHT

Pitcher Ralph Villescaz bore down with the bags loaded in the last inning as L&V bested American Forge, 6-5, in the first game of the Township Softball League playoffs Wednesday.

In the second game, Irvington VFW out-slugged Olwell Berry Farm 13-8.

Thus L&V and VFW play each other tonight on the local diamond for the gold cup. Kleine's clinched the pennant Monday with a 12-2 victory over Olwell.

L&V was leading 6-3 going into the last frame when the Forgemans tallied twice and still had the bags loaded with none down. But Villescaz got the next three batters to pop out.

The Berry Pickers, behind the hitting of "Doc" Hiseoka and Hiro Morimoto, gave the Vets trouble for a while but the Vets scored six times in the second inning. Walt George homered.

BENEFIT GAME FOR SOFTBALL INJURY

A benefit baseball game between Olwell Berry Farm and American Forge will be held on the Washington High diamond at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday.

Proceeds of the contest will be given to Tubby Tsubahara, Olwell player who was injured earlier in the season.

The following night, a players' appreciation night will be held to raise funds for a players' dinner.

Irvington's VFW will battle the Bearcat Club in the feature game.

BEARCATS FALTER, DROP 7-4 CONTEST

By TONY ROGERS

A fierce crew of San Francisco Pirates bunched six runs in one inning last Sunday and made Centerville's Bearcats walk the plank, 7 to 4.

The invaders victimized Pitcher Harvey Hernandez for four of the tallies and got another pair off his relief, Stan Roderick. The damage was inflicted in the sixth stanza.

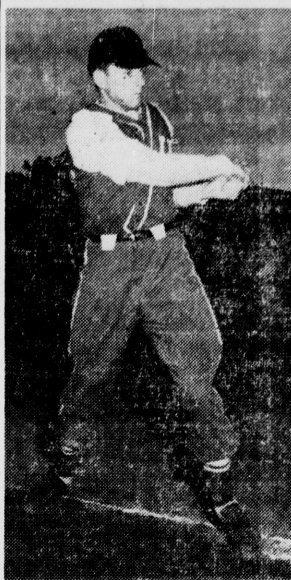

The Pirates had trailed 4-0 until their broadside. In the third frame the Bearcats scored three off a triple by Lawrence Fernandez, a walk by Hayden Freitas, an error that let Joe Dutra reach second and scored both runners, and finally a single by John Garcia.

Another score was added in the fifth on successive bingles, Garcia meantime holding the Pirates in check. When he was lifted for Hernandez, however, the bucaniers found the range. They added another run in the ninth for good measure.

Score by innings: R H E
Pirates000 006 001-7 5 2
Bearcats .030 010 000-4 9 4

The Bearcats play Sixth Army, a much-heralded San Francisco service nine, here on Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The growing and shedding of antlers by deer each season is characteristic of the family.

SOCKO! . . . Leroy Moore, of the L&V softball squad, connects with a solid hit to aid his team in an 8-2 victory over Olwell Berry Farm. (Register Photo)

LOCALITES AT DAHLIA SHOW

Eugene Correia of Centerville walked away from the dahlia show in San Leandro last week-end with ten ribbons, and two trophies. He chalked up this impressive record in the novice exhibit. One trophy, the President's, was awarded to him for exhibiting the largest perfect dahlia. He won the other trophy, the Bank of America award, for having the best container of miniatures. He was awarded three first place ribbons, two second place, and five third place. He will receive the awards at the annual dinner to be held at Olmstead's in San Leandro on September 9.

By WES SEARS

The lifting of the "freeze" on new television stations by the FCC has prompted a host of questions by the average TV viewer and the expression of some concern as to whether or not to hold off buying a set until later.

By no means. First of all, our present television is now broadcast on 12 channels known as VHF or very high frequency. There just simply isn't enough room on these channels for all the stations that are wanted so new channels were opened up in the UHF or Ultra High Frequency wavelengths; this will make it possible to have 2,053 stations in 1,291 communities.

Present-day sets will not be obsolete. Not only will present stations continue on the VHF but sets being made now are adaptable to the new frequencies by a simple tuning strip (about the size of a cigarette which can be installed cheaply in a matter of minutes) or a simple converter.

And if another argument is necessary, it will be years before all these new stations on UHF are in operation.

Along this same line... here's another slant on the Soviet's claim to "inventing" television. If they did they're not doing so well developing it. The country has only 60,000 TV sets for the 194 million population and there are TV stations in only three cities—Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. Programs don't go on until 8 p.m. and there is no daytime programming with the exception of a few hours on Sunday.

LEGAL NOTICE

UNION SANITARY DISTRICT BOND ELECTION NOTICE. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the qualified electors resident within UNION SANITARY DISTRICT, Alameda County, California, that in accordance with the provisions of the Health and Safety Code of the State of California governing such elections, an election has been called to be held and the same will be held in said Sanitary District on Monday, the 15th day of September, 1952, from the hour of 7:00 o'clock a.m. of said day until the hour of 7:00 o'clock p.m. of said day, during which time the polls will be kept continuously open, at which time and place there will be submitted to the qualified electors resident within said Sanitary District the following proposition, to-wit:

SHALL UNION SANITARY DISTRICT issue $250,000.00 principal amount of bonds for the purpose of raising money for the acquisition and construction of rights of way, outfall sewers, manholes, lamp-holes, buildings, equipment and additions to existing sewage disposal plant and treatment works?

The question of issuing bonds to make all said foregoing outlays shall be submitted to the qualified electors as one proposal.

The said bonds hereby proposed to be issued and sold will bear interest at the rate of not to exceed five (5) per cent per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually. The number of years which the whole of the bonds are to run shall not exceed forty (40) years.

The said proposed bonds and the interest thereon will be made payable in lawful money of the United States of America.

The principal and interest of said bonds shall be made payable at the office of the Treasurer of the County of Alameda, State of California.

For the purpose of said election, three (3) election precincts, the boundaries of which are herein-after defined and described, are hereby established, fixed, determined and designated as the election precincts within said Sanitary District for the purpose of holding said election.

The polling places hereinafter mentioned are hereby designated and selected by the Sanitary Board of said UNION SANITARY DISTRICT as the places within said Sanitary District where such election will be held.

The following persons named as inspectors and judges of said election are hereby appointed by said Sanitary Board to act as election officers of said election and as such will conduct the same, each of said persons being a qualified elector of said UNION SANITARY DISTRICT.

The following is a list and description of the election precincts, polling places therein and the officers of election to conduct said election above referred to and mentioned.

STANLEY DENIES CO. GAVE UP ROAD

Supervisor Chester E. Stanley this week denied the county abandoned the north end of Mulberry Street to a Newark subdivision.

The county was criticized for such action—or inaction—last week before the Newark Chamber of Commerce.

"That property never was officially a county - dedicated street," Stanley declared. "It appeared on old maps, but it never was officially accepted."

The supervisor said the subdivision, Riviera Realty, simply purchased the land, which abuts on a ditch, brought suit to quiet title, and then "closed" the street for its own purposes. Had the county opposed Riviera successfully, Stanley added, it would have had to bridge the ditch and improve the non-existent "street."

Stanley and the Planning Commission had been charged, by implication, or a breach of faith in failing to inform the local chamber of the move.

Firemen Finish

Approximately 75 volunteer firemen of Washington Township, having completed a six-week course in fire fighting conducted by the State Department of Education, will be presented with certificates.

The firemen completed a minimum of 12 hours in classes, conducted by Richard W. Nevins at Niles, Centerville, Alvarado, Newark and Irvington.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere gratitude and heartfelt thanks to those who remembered us with cards of sympathy and floral offerings at the time of our bereavement.

LOCK THE BARN DOOR BEFOREHAND

Well, now we know. State Highway planning wizards tell us it will be another five years before the Eastshore Freeway is completed through Washington Township. It seems there is only so much cash available each year, and other areas have a higher priority.

Okay. What we want to know is: what now? Have the experts noticed truck and auto traffic through Centerville since the Freeway was opened to San Lorenzo? Have they ever tried to make a left turn down Thornton to get to Newark? Or a left turn out of Fremont to do any shopping in Centerville?

Next Spring the Freeway will be finished as far south as Mt. Eden, just a toad-hop north of our Township. Imagine what that'll do to traffic in Centerville and Irvington!

If we're going to have to live with the Thundering Herd for five years, at least the Division of Highways ought to supply us with lariats and a few cowboys. This is to serve notice on the State that this Township wants stop-and-go traffic signals on Highway 17. Thornton and Fremont avenues are two obvious spots. Three-way signals are needed there. Maybe there ought to be one in Irvington, something to slow 'em down at the Monument. Certainly there ought to be more regular patrolling by State motor cops.

This editorial is a warning, delivered with the hope that the Highway Department will take action before some family is obliterated under a truck, before some youngster is killed trying to cross Main Street.

If that happens, there will be another editorial, differently worded. That's the one we don't want to write.

MYSTERY MAN WAS BORN IN DECOTO

The Register extends apologies to readers who went through the pages of last week's issue, seeking the identity of last week's mystery man. The answer wasn't there. In the rush associated with press-day, the answer was unintentionally left out.

In case you have not already solved the mystery, we will tell you that our mystery man was Al Juhl of Niles.

This week's mystery man was born in Decoto, the son of a man who worked for 23 years with the Eastbay Water Company, and the grandson of a man who once owned the property where Faletti's Corner is now.

He went to elementary school in Alvarado, and to high school in Centerville, where he was active in sports, especially track. His specialty was high-jumping, and he achieved an enviable leap of 5 feet 8 1/2 inches.

His son, who also graduated from high school in Centerville (class of '51) followed in his father's footsteps. He, too, was an outstanding athlete.

After graduating, our mystery man worked for the sugar mill for two seasons, then took a course at Heald's in Oakland. From Heald's he took a position in Oakland in 1925 with the firm for which he still works.

He worked for the same firm in Berkeley and in Martinez, and was later transferred to Washington Township.

He is past secretary and past president of the Optimist Club in Oakland.

His sister and his mother live in Centerville.

He joined the Masonic Lodge in Centerville in 1924.

He met his wife when both were working in the same office in Oakland and she was employed as a bookkeeper.

His favorite forms of recreation are hunting and gardening. Guess who!

DELAY NEW CENTERVILLE SCHOOL START

Trustees of the Centerville Elementary School District have granted George Bianchi, general contractor for the new school on Thornton Avenue, an extension of time for completion of the contract until October 25.

Though the school had been scheduled for completion on August 30, the extension covers working time lost by the carpenter strike.

Centerville Elementary School will open for the 1952-53 school year on Monday, September 8, and the school cafeteria will be open on the first day of school.

By using the school auditorium and the library, the Board of Trustees and Principal Tom Maloney hope to be able to continue on regular schedule without double sessions.

On Friday morning, September 5, from 9 a.m. until noon, Mrs. Mary S. Rodriguez, kindergarten teacher, will be at the school on South Main Street to register any children who have not already been registered for kindergarten classes.

New law provides that children to be eligible for kindergarten, must be four years and nine months of age or older, as of September 1, 1952.

"It is not necessary for youngsters to accompany parents, but parents should bring birth certificates or other evidence of birth date of children to facilitate registration," Maloney said.

GRAVESTOCK HEADS SCHOOL 'CRUSADE'

Warren Gravestock, principal of the evening school at Washington Union High, has been appointed United Crusade co-ordinator for all township schools.

Mrs. Paul Johnson of Orchard Park, Centerville, has been named co-director of that district. She has announced her solicitors as follows: Mrs. Frank Mantua, Mrs. John Peters, Mrs. Rita Cunha and Mrs. David Kirish.

Second organizational meeting of Township directors for the United Crusade met in the County Building on August 14. In the absence of Bruce Michael, public relations chairman for the community, William Wheeler, regional chairman, called the meeting to order.

Wheeler introduced Mrs. Lloyd Truman, chairman of the Crusade's training committee, who stated campaign efficiency "depends on each person doing her job to the best of her ability." Mrs. Truman also suggested that if each person could visit any one of the agencies depending on the funds derived from this campaign, "he or she would then fully know and realize how much is needed and to what extent their donations are being used in welfare and health projects." The drive starts October 1, with a local goal of around $20,000.

SEWER DISTRICT ANNEX STUDIED

A survey of possible lands which may some day be annexed to the Union Sanitary District was submitted last week to district directors by Engineer Harry Goodridge. Goodridge said his drawings of the so-called "Jarvis Annex" are long-range insurance against the day when lands south of Decoto and Lowry Road—near Alvarado—are forced to consider annexation to a sanitary-disposal district.

Such an annexation, the engineer added:

1. Would double the size of the UCD.
 2. Would pay taxes to form itself.
 3. Would not constitute a tax burden on the present district.
- The directors meantime wrote Contractor Dan Bodily accepting his plan for sewers in a tract next to Ellsworth Orchard. Also accepted were similar plans for Glenmoor Gardens, near Centerville.

$100,000 Leslie Job

Slated for completion in October is a $100,000 warehouse now under construction by the Leslie Salt Company, Newark.

The one-story, 30,000-square-foot structure will make it necessary for the company to hire 12 new employees, according to the Alameda County New Industries Committee.

There are approximately 100 million acres of brush and trunda lands under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Land Management in Alaska.

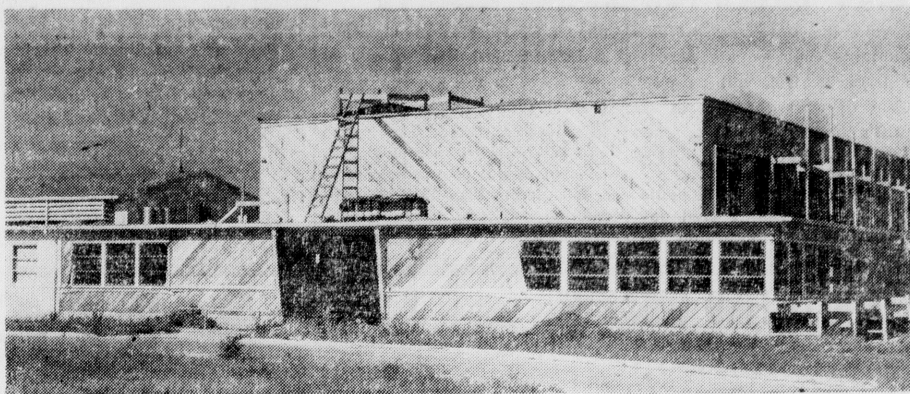

California's 1952 alfalfa hay crop covers 959,000 acres.

COUNTY IS BELOW RELIEF AVERAGE

In Alameda County, 36 people out of every 1,000 receive direct public relief of one kind or another, compared with 41 per 1,000 for California as a whole, and 30 per 1,000 for the nation, California Taxpayers' Association said today. Out of the county's 742,750 population at January 1, 1952, 26,636 people were receiving one or another of the four kinds of relief during June, 1952.

How many people are on the rolls depends upon federal, state and county laws, administration, and conditions.

The 15,051 receiving aid as needy aged amounted to 57 per cent of the people on the county rolls. Another 29 per cent include the 7,770 children receiving relief.

DECOTO SCHOOLS TOP COUNTY INCREASE

Decoto public schools showed the greatest growth, pupilwise, in the entire county last year, a report from Dr. Vaughn Seidel, county superintendent of schools, showed today.

Average daily attendance in Decoto jumped 29 per cent, or from 635 to 893 between 1950-51 and 1951-52, Dr. Seidel said.

Niles attendance rose 11.8 per cent, or from 566 to 642 during the same period.

Average increase in attendance throughout Alameda County was eight per cent, with a total of 116,486 students enrolled at the end of the school year.

Oakland's elementary schools showed a 3½ per cent rise, and the city's high schools, 6½ per cent.

MICHAEL NAMES NEW COMMITTEE

Bruce Michael, public relations chairman for the Washington Township United Crusade drive, has announced the following have been named on a group formed to get information across to the public on the advantages and principles for the "one-drive appeal":

LeRoy Brown, Judge Allen G. Norris, Maurice Marks, Col. Eugene Manning, Mrs. Ann Mayock, Mrs. G. G. Rehrig, Mrs. Stella Benbow, Mrs. L. S. George, Mrs. William Chivers, Carl Hersey and Mrs. Bruce Michael. More names will be added to the list as time goes on.

The Commerce and Industry phase of the campaign will start September 15

HOW TO GET YOUR G.I. REGISTERED

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today called upon all California newspapers and radio stations for aid in publicizing means for servicemen to obtain absentee ballots for the November general election.

At the same time Jordan made similar requests of all county clerks and registrars of voters.

A resolution was adopted by the Legislature to remind servicemen there would be no federal ballot such as was distributed during World War II, and that in order to vote they must make application either through the Secretary of State or county clerks in all counties except Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco. These three counties provide applications to be sent to the registrar of voters.

The resolution requests newspapers to publish a notice in substantially the following form:

"If you have a relative or friend in the armed services, he or she is eligible to vote. If he or she is a resident of Alameda County, clip this coupon and mail it to him or her. Tell him or her to fill it out and mail it to the Registrar of Voters, County Courthouse, Oakland. A sample ballot and registration affidavit will be mailed them, postage paid, air mail."

SIGNUP URGED FOR SHERIFF RESERVE

Regular law enforcement training, from legal procedures to crowd and traffic control, will be given student deputies enrolling in the Sheriff's Reserve training program to open the week of September 15 in Southern Alameda County.

The new fall training schedule is part of the county civil defense program, according to Sheriff H. P. Gleason, director. A trained reserve force of 600 volunteers is the avowed goal, Gleason stated.

Sheriff's Lts. Floyd N. Heffron and Stanley N. Petersen will direct the eight-month course, scheduled for completion May 18, 1953. Instruction will total 90 hours, constituting a complete basic training course. Graduates will be presented with badges, batons, and certificates.

Classes in Washington Township start at Washington Union High School, 7 to 10 p.m., Monday evenings, beginning September 15.

Prospective recruits may sign now with Capt. Richard Condon, Washington Township substation. Indoctrination meetings explaining the course are planned the week of September 8 in Washington Township, according to Sheriff Gleason. The first is scheduled September 8 in Washington Union High cafeteria at 7 p.m. Volunteers may register at that time.

The first "East-West" football game, between Stanford and the University of Chicago, was played on Christmas Day, 1894, in San Francisco.

Loses License

Bobby Lee Gilmore of 809 Third Street, Niles, had his driver's license suspended this week for failure to report insurance after an accident, according to the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Vernon Rebello of Centerville won reinstatement of his license, the State agency reported.

FIRST STREET, NILES

CALIFORNIA IS SOMETHING

Why This Pacific Empire Grows at So Fantastic a Rate Can, Perhaps, Best Be Answered by the 48 Editors Whose Little City Newspapers Feature Magazine California

By PAUL NEWELL

Some of the Chamber of Commerce brethren in Kern County were thrown in a tizzy right after the recent earthquakes when quite a horde of the latter day immigrants started moving Oklahomaward across the Sierras. Their fears were calmed, however, when it was reported from border stations that quakefright was sending fewer out of state than midwest drought was sending our way.

No mere earthquake or series of quakes, apparently, can stop California in its break-neck march to the coveted (or dubious) honor of being Number 1 state in population. With ten million plus already here, the annual increase is now estimated at 500,000 per year.

A DOZEN CLIMATES

What keeps them coming our way at such an almost frightening rate could be the subject of endless and fascinating speculation. Climate is one of the more obvious answers. California has a dozen different climates and most of them are pleasant. August in Death Valley or January atop Mt. Whitney may be a little on the rough side, but January in Death Valley and a thousand other California spots can be a very delightful experience; no snow shoveling, no frozen ears or toes. And as for August, where in all the world could you find a more exhilarating spot than San Francisco.

Some perhaps jealous Easterners like to mention that our Great Central Valley is no summer resort but let it be said that from almost any spot in California you can reach either the high mountains or the seashore in one to three hours driving and what other piece of land in the world has nearly a thousand miles of such incomparable seashore.

ECONOMIC LURE

When it comes to climate, "Eureka," quoting our state motto: "I have found it." The economic lure is also a potent factor. Where are wage scales any better, where are pension and relief potentials as lush?

Potent as are the climatic and economic lures, it is our strong but hard-to-prove conviction that there are 25 other less tangible factors which account for this fantastic migration to the Golden State. Under these we would list as chief magnetic forces the never-ending variety and the bid to adventure which California offers.

In an age when boredom is commonplace the human need for variety and some taste of adventure probably comes ahead of things as elemental as the desire for riches or a pleasant easy climate.

VARIETY, ADVENTURE

California's two great population centers play the variety and adventure tunes on a large scale. San Francisco still carries some of the aura of clipper ships and gold rush brawls and San Franciscans have the knack of doing ordinary things with uncommon zest and imagination. Los Angeles (via Hollywood) manufactures variety and adventure (of a synthetic sort) for the whole world.

MIGRATORY BIRDS of AMERICA

CALIFORNIA-HEADED

But the real California story is probably less known to the millions who live in the metropolitan areas than it is to those who live in several hundred smaller communities throughout the state. These small town dwellers can get a perspective and appreciation of the California scene which is denied most big city dwellers.

18 CALIFORNIA TOWNS

Magazine California is supplement to the local newspapers in 48 of these California towns and probably the keenest and most appreciative observers of the California scene are the men who run these newspapers.

If Magazine California, issue by issue, could somehow capture with ink on paper the infinite variety and adventure of the California story it could become the most entertaining of journals. It is our hope that with the help of these 48 California editors, and others who are captivated by the California story, this can be brought about.

What are some of these California towns and the facets of the California story they can see from close range?

There's Reedley in the heart of the great San Joaquin

Ernest Phippen
Is Auto Victim

Two local men, one a Newark civic leader, were fatally injured this week in a headon collision just south of the Alameda County line.

Dead are:

Ernest F. Phippen, 38, of 441 Olive Street, Newark, a Morton Salt Company employee.

Julian D. Mata, 27, of 205 Fifth Street, Decoto.

Cars driven by Phippen and Mata crashed Monday night on Highway 17 near Warm Springs. Both men died the following day in a San Jose hospital.

Injured in the tragic accident were Phippen's wife, Patricia, 34, who suffered a broken nose and severe lacerations; and two passengers in Mata's car, Arturo Moreno, 19, and Arnulfo Trejo, 27, both of Decoto, who escaped with superficial cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Phippen was released from the hospital Wednesday.

Her husband, active in Chamber of Commerce and Knights of Pythias work, leaves four children, John, Kaye, Jennie and Donald; as well as two brothers, Frank and Walter of Decoto; and a sister, Mrs. Doris Marshall of Decoto.

Funeral services for Phippen are tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Chapel of the Palms under auspices of the Knights of Pythias, with interment in Oak Hill Cemetery, San Jose. Phippen also was a member of Abuzaid No. 201 of DOKK. The Pythians' annual barbecue was to have been held at his home Sunday.

Mata's funeral will be at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow from Berge Mortuary Co., Niles, with requiem mass at 9 o'clock in Decoto Catholic Church and interment in Holy Ghost Cemetery.

He leaves his father and five brothers and sisters in Santa Ana.

rhythms of deadpan jitterbugs.

A new featured artist, Foy Willing ("Riders of the Purple Sage") explains it this way:

"Cotton's a real authentic writer of American folk-lore. He's got a heart, and folks recognize it. Now you take this Burl Ives—he's a phoney. All he knows about folk music is what he's read about it. But not Cotton—he's the real thing."

Cotton's fans share this view. His fan mail at KVSM, if studio spokesmen are to be believed, approaches the tonnage point. And at Rollerhaven, when he moves across the dance floor to the bandstand, his progress is impeded by a gaggle of loyal rooters—male and female—who want to tell their idol just how his latest program made them feel.

Cotton's appeal is frankly an emotional one, aimed at transplanted people who feel lonesome and apart in an alien land. He does not sing, he does not perform on the guitar. But the home-ly sayings, the references to ma's

"Most of my buyers want larger homes," Meyers said. "They want 1800 square feet, and are paying up to $19,500." Meyer recently moved his headquarters here from San Leandro.

Four Lose Licenses

Four license suspensions and one revocation in this area were announced this week by the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Chester Wayne Russell, RFD Box 475, Niles, had his license revoked for a third drunken driving conviction.

Suspended were the licenses of William R. Beaty, Irvington, reckless driving; Porfirio H. Gonzales, Niles, drunken driving; Peter G. Salles, 922 Tenth Street, Decoto, and Guadalupe Arroyo, Niles, no insurance.

The child died three days earlier of a long illness in an Oakland hospital. Several brothers and sisters also survive.

Presentations or gifts were made to Al Teeter, Eddie Martin and Mrs. Mary Pine. Thirty-three were present.

WHAT'S IN A NAME. Know how your community got its name? Our favorite is the one about the banker who, "as too modest to have a town named after him, so Modesto, meaning modest, was chosen title. Fresno means Ash Tree. Chino means Chinese. Eureka is from the Greek, "I have found it." Don't know what they found or what they did with it. People in Hemet aren't sure if town is Indian name or from the Swedish hemmet (in the home). If you ask ten people what LaJolla or Azusa mean you will get ten different answers. Everybody also has his own idea of correct way to pronounce Los Angeles. Just don't call it Frisco.

THE LADIES. Mrs. Alvin Crum, San Francisco, didn't know she was pregnant till she gave birth to seven pound boy. She said her husband was going to be surprised, too. . . . Yvonne dal Santo was Cal's best auto trader-inner till law decided to check her methods. She used '41 car as down payment on '46 job. Then used '46 car as down payment on even better car. No money involved. She just kept building higher & higher. . . . Florence Chadwick, the first woman to swim the English Channel both ways, is going to take another crack at the Catalina gulch. The San Diego stenographer says it's the cold, not the distance, that's the toughest part of the swim. . . . Don't look for any gal to break Helen Wills' marathon tennis rally. On January 7, 1936, she and Howard Kinsey rallied a ball for 78 minutes without a miss. Total shots: 2000. They were still going strong when pro Kinsey had to leave to give lesson.

FREE ENTERPRISE. Donald Lipton, 11, is a kid who ought to be a millionaire in about 11 more years. Don was cutting six lawns a week for a dollar a lawn when he got bigger ideas. With a power mower, figured he could become a lawn-mowing demon. Drawback: power mower cost $120. Don had heard about big business methods and decided to try them himself. Mentioning such collateral as an old bike, Don wrote to Standard Factors Corporation and explained need and dreams, mentioning, "will pay you back when I can." Don got the mower. Is now Cal's youngest capitalist. Business is powerful.

ROADS TO ROMANCE. What's your favorite stretch of California Highway? The folks around Atascadero believe the most beautiful is Highway No. 1 from Moro Bay to Carmel and Monterey. For many miles, this scenic route winds along the Santa Lucia mountains, which drop off abruptly at the ocean. For a trip that shows California at its most varied, try this sometime. San Juan Capistrano to Palm Springs via Idyllwild. You can go from ocean breezes to the desert, from orange groves to mountain pines, all within a few hours.

THEY SAY. "I used to be tremendously impressed by old men when I was a kid," says author Gene Fowler, 61, "I was always wondering what they were thinking of. Now I know the answer. They're thinking of nothing." Is Fowler right, Pops?

SHRIMP RUSH. Latest California bonanza might be supplied by the shrimp. The research vessel, M. B. Schofield, is now busily checking our shores for shrimp beds lying between Point Arguello and the Oregon coast. Smallest beds lie off San Luis Obispo. The largest is off Patrick Point in the northern part of the state. We know they locate the shrimps by sonar but we don't know what sonar is. Best estimates on future shrimp takes: $50,000 to $1,500,000 annually. Up to now, most shrimp have come from the East coast or from Mexican waters. Oranges and grapes are Cal's famous crops, but cotton tops them all in cash.

DATELINES. Susanville. This is one of the 100 American communities selected for a foreign exchange teacher. An Englishman, John G. Holmes, of Leeds, will teach at Susanville for one year. If Holmes wants to write back to England and tell the folks how Susanville got its name, it's named after the daughter of Isaac Roop. If the folks back in Merrie England want to know who the heck Isaac Roop was, well, he was recorder of the Territory of Nataqua and he was allowed to name anything he wanted. . . . Avenal. Music lovers here have discovered that the Coalinga District Library is one of the best record sources in the state. Library has 3600 classical and popular records in all speeds. Borrower can take out six records at a time for seven days. If anyone just happens to break Johnnie Ray's recording of "Cry," that's okay by me. . . . Newhall. Alpha Hartman was out hunting for deer when he ran across a Brahma bull that had been returned to pasture because of its ornery disposition. Bull took a look at the hunter and decided to do some hunting itself. It knocked Hartman down, banged him around, broke his glasses, stomped on his revolver and booted his binoculars. Did everything but spit in Hartman's eye. If bulls keep acting like this, they'll have to limit the season on men to three months a year.

Valley, center of the world's greatest sweet grape growing area, where raisins and sweet wines for the world market are produced. Hardly an hour's easy drive from Reedley is Giant Forest where towers majestic General Sherman tree, greatest and oldest living thing.

THOUSAND WONDERS

There's Indio in the Coachella Valley, center of California's date growing industry and only a few minutes from fabulous Palm Springs, dubbed "Hollywood on the Desert."

There's Arcata on Humboldt Bay, center of California's redwood logging industry, a bright and attractive California town at a pivotal spot in California's great Redwood Empire. Arcatans can find a thousand wonders on a rugged seacoast and in those enchanting redwood forests, found nowhere else in the world.

Also in the great Redwood Empire country there's old Sonoma, with its lovely and historic square. There's bustling Ukiah. There's Healdsburg on the Russian River and there's Willits at the gateway to some of the greatest existing Redwood forests.

GREATEST EYE

There's Vista in the gentle hills of San Diego County, one of California's most lush avocado and citrus centers and only a short drive from Mt. Palomar where is the world's greatest eye to scan the universe.

There's Alturas, county seat of California's far northeast county, a land of great open spaces, of forest and lava beds, of great droves of cattle and home of the Mule Deer.

There's Holtville in Imperial Valley near the Mexican border. Imperial, below sea level and once part of the Gulf of California, is the Nation's earliest food basket, chief source of the Nation's winter lettuce and carrots, its earliest melons, great producer of flax, cotton and sugar beets.

COLORADO HARNESED

There's Blythe near the Arizona border in the Palo Verde Valley. Once an arid waste, this is now a verdant, most productive valley through man's ingenuity in harnessing the waters of the Colorado.

There are Astacadero and Paso Robles in a lovely valley in the Coastal Range, midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco. Paso Robles, an early day California spa, developed by the Southern Pacific Railway and now one of California's chief almond growing centers. Astacadero, a dream city of one of the greatest promoters and visionaries in history, it had a meteoric rise in the early part of this century, a quick and terrible flop. During the past two decades it has slowly been coming into its own as one of the beauty spots of California.

MOTHER LODGE FASCINATION

There are those three fascinating towns in the Mother Lodge—Sonora, Jackson and Placerville. Sonora, with nearby Columbia (a state park) is Hollywood's dream of Western set. Jackson, is perched on a hill with winding streets and has something of the atmosphere of a miniature San Francisco. Placerville (originally Hangtown) is near Coloma, where gold was discovered by Marshall. Was the first place the gold rush immigrants lit in their great trek across the Sierra in '49 and '50.

There's Tulelake, a new frontier town in an old part of California up near the Oregon line. Federal reclamation recovered an old lake bed and 20th century pioneers (mostly war veterans) have made it a wonderfully rich new farming area.

BOOMING OUTPOST

There's Lancaster, a booming outpost on the west edge of the great Mojave Desert and the East end of Antelope Valley. The Mojave is America's greatest testing ground for super-sonic planes, guided missiles and the scientific wonders of tomorrow. It also has millions of acres of potentially good farm land (given water). Most of the good farm land now under cultivation centers around Lancaster, producing almonds and alfalfa. Lancaster is also becoming one of the state's chief meat chicken producing centers.

The highways that lead to the wonder spots of the Southern counties of California are called Roads to Romance and are being promoted by Roads to Romance Association, headed by Walter Knott, who built fabulous Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town. Roads to Romance lead to the Southern California towns already mentioned and to such other charming spots as Hemet, at the foot of Mt. San Jacinto. To Apple Valley. To Borrego Valley. To the beautiful old Missions like San Juan Capistrano, San Gabriel and Pala; roads that Fra Junipero Serra and the great explorer, de Anza, travelled.

MANY FASCINATING ROADS

Many other, perhaps less historic but just as interesting, California roads lead through other parts of the back country in the central and north of the state, roads like Highway 33 which goes through the more recently developed but amazingly rich western portion of the San Joaquin Valley, through oil towns like Taft and Avenal and Coalinga, though cattle and sheep, cotton and rice growing centers like Dos Palos and Los Banos, Firebaugh, Mendota, Newman and Patterson.

We haven't mentioned all of the 48 towns through whose local newspaper Magazine California circulates. We will as time goes on. But we do think these towns are wonderful observation posts for what goes on in California.

Looking out from them it would seem the California story really could be told.

FIRST STREET, NILES

RICHARD NIXON

By MICHAEL JACKSON

Richard Milhous Nixon, who could turn out to be the most talked of Californian of them all, didn't rate a line in the 1950 edition of Who's Who. Only two months ago, even Nixon's staunchest admirers conceded that politically he ranked well behind his fellow Republicans, Governor Warren and Senator Knowland. Nixon was just a delegate, pledged to Warren, at the opening of the G.O.P. convention in Chicago. Not two weeks later, this Whittier whizz was sharing the spotlight with General Eisenhower.

Being a Vice-Presidential nominee is not, of itself, guarantee of enduring fame. Who, for instance, was Willie's running mate? But Richard Nixon has definitely become a figure to watch, a man whose future may well be of concern to all Americans. Coolidge and Truman are historically recent cases of veeps who became Presidents. There is always the chance that the same could happen to Nixon.

Beyond the fact that he had to do with the exposure of Communist Alger Hiss, few people can tell you very much of Richard Nixon, the man. Even fewer could tell you of his past. Some day, that youth and boyhood may be searched for legends and revealing anecdotes. To those future historians, we pass along some findings, an apple-pie slice of Americana.

GOOD TALKER

If there was one outstanding quality about young Dick Nixon, it was his intensity. Whittier, where he was raised, is a Quaker community, but Dick was not a notably pacifist boy. He fought quickly over chance remarks. While scrapping to the point of being pugnacious, he was, as well, an enthusiastic member of Christian Endeavor and an adept violinist and pianist. It may have been the fear of being thought a sissy that made him such a playground terror.

Dick was always a talker. At an annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor Youth Rally of the Friends Church, he was asked, 15 minutes before time, to give a speech at the banquet. With no preparation, he gave a half-hour oration that held his audience spellbound.

Most bright boys sooner or later have it said of them that they will end up in the White House. The first person to make this remark about Dick Nixon was his grammar school teacher, Lewis A. Cox. Cox recalls the time Dick, then eleven, debated with a five-boy team against five girls. Dick's rebuttal won for the boys, which makes him one of the few men with proof of having out-argued a team of women.

FOOTBALL AND MUSIC

"Richard was the type of student who made teaching a joy," Cox says. By the time he had reached junior high, Nixon had channeled his native combativeness into athletic outlets. Though light, he went out for football, playing tackle. "No one's going to get through this position," he tensely declared. Despite his announcement, a few backs must have picked up yardage there, for Nixon is not remembered as an outstanding lineman, only a very intense one. The team was notable in that area because it was completely unformed. This rated the junior high eleven a few games against high school teams. Nixon got himself a broken nose and the standard amount of glory.

Nixon's boyhood, with its music lessons and football, the Sunday school and part-time grocery store work, adds up to something typically American. His family was neither poor nor rich. The dominant quality about the young Nixon was his determination to excel.

At Whittier College, Dr. Paul Smith, who taught history, recently looked up Nixon's grades. They were the second highest in the class. Nixon was excelled only by a pretty girl named Pat Ryan. She's now Mrs. Nixon.

ATTRACTIVE FAMILY

Pat and Richard Nixon, with their two little girls, form an attractive family. They have that just-a-little-bit-better-than-average handsomeness that can be a definite political asset. They don't look too dangerously intellectual or cosmopolitan. The children, after a year and a half exile in Washington, are enjoying being home. Pat Nixon is attempting, not always successfully, to shield them from the fact of the father's new prominence.

Richard Milhous Nixon, meanwhile, is setting out to prove himself an able campaigner at top levels. People vote, of course, for Presidents, not Vice-Presidents, and Nixon's career, at this stage, is mostly in the hands of Eisenhower. But Republicans expect Nixon to supply vital vote-getting assistance. He is slated to do the slugging against the opposition, leaving the loftier issues to Eisenhower.

RAPID RISE

Since his release from the Navy at war's end, Nixon has come along amazingly fast. When California's 12th Congressional District Republicans wanted a young veteran with no compromising political connections, Nixon exactly fit the specifications. Subsequently, he defeated Helen Gahagan for Senate. Then, when the Republicans were looking for a young, progressive type from a key state, Nixon was again the choice. It seems that Nixon is not chosen primarily for himself, but because he has the ability to fit the already announced requirements.

Today, Nixon, only 39, is rated a leading exponent of the sock-the-opposition type campaigner. Up to now, this has worked remarkably well. How it will do against a man of Stevenson's intelligence and integrity is yet to be seen. Nixon's own voting record is notable for its ability to sense the currently popular cause. This knack has brought him along faster than any other young man in the public scene.

CAMPAIGNER

Already acknowledged a relentless digger of facts, Nixon is relentlessly setting out to make himself human. A recent typical afternoon had him shaking 3702 hands in two and a half hours. Spotting a newspaper picture of three boys who decorated their home with a We Like Ike sign, Nixon sent them a big-brotherly letter then garnered a gratifying amount of "folksy" publicity.

Right now, this Whittier lawyer has headquarters in the plush Washington Hotel in the Nation's capital. It's a handsome suite, arranged so that streams of callers can flow in and out without bumping into each other. Many of these visitors are beginning to believe that this "unknown" Californian may eventually wind up in the White House.

HOME-OWNERS by the thousands visited the READYMADE Fence Exhibit at the San Joaquin County Fair in Stockton. The display featured a shaded barbecue table, begonia planter and a shaded bench which can be easily constructed from this fence of a thousand uses. Simple how-to-do-it instructions for building patios, windscreens, play yards and many other home improvements are available without charge.

Free Booklet on Make-It-Yourself Ideas Available

A postcard request to American Forest Products Corporation, 1 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, will bring free literature on uses of "Readymade" in building hot house, patio, play yard, flower bed borders, barbecue table, begonia planter or wind screen. Mention leaflet wanted.

This company is an old-line California concern with eleven sawmills, scattered from the Oregon border to Tulare County. Over a period of forty-one years, the list of products they manufacture has grown to include lumber of Ponderosa Pine, Sugar Pine, Douglas Fir, White Fir and Incense Cedar, together with boxes, plywood, doors, windows and other forest products.

This company has now reached into the consumer market with a ready-made fence called, appropriately, READYMADE Fence. This is made of sturdy wooden pickets, a full 1 1/2" thick and 2" wide. These are securely bound by galvanized wire, which prevents rust and corrosion. It comes in six heights, 12", 18", 24", 30", 36" and 48"; and in five colors, white, white with green top, green, stained Redwood and natural Redwood. The white painted fence is made of study, clear Douglas Fir, while the other colors are made of long lasting Redwood.

READYMADE Fence lends itself to hundreds of uses around the home or the farm, and in industry. It is both decorative and efficient, and installation of READYMADE is fast, easy, and economical.

CHAMBER DOO'D IT, MUST UNDO IT

What it can do, it must also undo, the Niles Chamber of Commerce learned this week.

Several years ago, the organization asked the Supervisors to paint a strip of curb at 513 First Street for a Township Cab stand.

This week, the cab company wrote the Chamber and explained since it had moved across the street into the former firehouse, it no longer needs the strip, and suggested it be used again for public parking.

Secretary Vernon Ellsworth agreed to write the Supervisors again, explaining since the Chamber had asked for the cab stand in the first place, it would have to initiate steps for its removal.

SCHOOL BOND VOTE SET FOR OCT. 17

October 17 is the date set for $1,500,000 high school bond election, it was announced today.

The bonds will be used to expand Washington Union High school to accommodate 1,400 pupils, according to School Board President S. G. Scott.

The date was set Tuesday night by Scott and other trustees. They also decided to inaugurate a series of public meetings to explain need for the expansion program to the public. First of these meetings is set for Monday night, September 15, in the high school auditorium. Scott will moderate the program, which will start at 8 o'clock.

Meantime, registration at the high school starts next Monday. Principal J. V. Goold reminded some 950 prospective students. Tuesday, Admission Day, is a holiday, but classes will start in earnest on Wednesday.

The annual faculty-trustees barbecue will be held Monday night at 7 p.m. in Alum Rock Park.

Health Dept. News

Fall changes in the Centerville office of the Alameda County Health Department were announced today by Supervisor Chester Tanley.

Elizabeth Neiman, public health nurse, has been transferred from Leandro to Decoto, replacing Margaret Hanson, who has been assigned to Emeryville and Piedmont.

Newark has been selected for a second time as a field training area, and students from the University of Oregon will be assigned here. Decoto and Centerville have been selected as one of the old training areas for the school of public nursing of the University of California, and Mrs. Neiman will be supervisor to the students.

Julio Juarez has been assigned to sanitation work in Washington Township. He was formerly headquartered in the Hayward office, and covered the Alvarado and Decoto part of the Township from there. Juarez will intensify the control program in the restaurant and food establishments of the Township.

On Irvington resident, Mrs. Janet McLaughlin, has been assigned to Hayward.

STREET LIGHTS

In response to a request by the Irvington Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Supervisors has authorized installation of street lights at the following locations:

1. James Avenue and Stevenson Drive.
2. Driscoll Road and Niles-Mission Highway.
3. Southeast side of Driscoll Road and Mission Creek.

Ernest Phippen Is Auto Victim

Two local men, one a Newark civic leader, were fatally injured this week in a head-on collision just south of the Alameda County line.

Dead are:

Ernest F. Phippen, 38, of 441 Olive Street, Newark, a Morton Salt Company employee.

Julian D. Mata, 27, of 205 Fifth Street, Decoto.

Cars driven by Phippen and Mata crashed Monday night on Highway 17 near Warm Springs. Both men died the following day in a San Jose hospital.

Injured in the tragic accident were Phippen's wife, Patricia, 34, who suffered a broken nose and severe lacerations; and two passengers in Mata's car, Arturo Moreno, 19, and Arnulfo Trejo, 27, both of Decoto, who escaped with superficial cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Phippen was released from the hospital Wednesday.

Her husband, active in Chamber of Commerce and Knights of Pythias work, leaves four children, John, Kaye, Jennie and Donald; as well as two brothers, Frank and Walter of Decoto; and a sister, Mrs. Doris Marshall of Decoto.

Funeral services for Phippen are tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Chapel of the Palms under auspices of the Knights of Pythias, with interment in Oak Hill Cemetery, San Jose. Phippen also was a member of Abuzaid No. 201 of DOKK. The Pythians' annual barbecue was to have been held at his home Sunday.

Mata's funeral will be at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow from Berge Mortuary Co., Niles, with requiem mass at 9 o'clock in Decoto Catholic Church and interment in Holy Ghost Cemetery.

He leaves his father and five brothers and sisters in Santa Ana.

Willing ("Riders of the Purple Sage") explains it this way:

"Cotton's a real authentic writer of American folk-lore. He's got a heart, and folks recognize it. Now you take this Burl Ives—he's a phoney. All he knows about folk music is what he's read about it. But not Cotton—he's the real thing."

Cotton's fans share this view. His fan mail at KVSM, if studio spokesmen are to be believed, approaches the tonnage point. And at Rollerhaven, when he moves across the dance floor to the bandstand, his progress is impeded by a gaggle of loyal rooters—male and female—who want to tell their idol just how his latest program made them feel.

Cotton's appeal is frankly an emotional one, aimed at transplanted people who feel lonesome and apart in an alien land. He does not sing, he does not perform on the guitar. But the homely sayings, the references to ma's (Continued on page 8)

ALBERT WILSON:

ADVICE TO GARDENERS ON GROUND COVER

From a wealth of experience in practical gardening as well as in writing, editing garden books and speaking on stage, radio and television, Albert Wilson brings the readers of Magazine California this exclusive feature on a vital garden topic.

Everybody is not interested in a lawn, some gardeners seek a substitute. The nurseryman and landscape architect call it a ground cover. There are many suitable plants for ground covers, and kinds can be selected for gardens in Arcata, San Diego, Susanville and Indian Valley. First what exactly is the problem. Is it a slope to be covered, is it flat land where the wind blows fiercely, is it a spot near the sea shore, is it a place in the rolling hills where water is a scarce item?

There are plants which with little adjustment can fit each one of these problems. They should be fixed right in the beginning. The main thing however is for you to select the right ground cover plant, one that will do its job not this year alone, but for a decade.

PROSTRATE JUNIPER

One of the finest ground cover plants I've seen is the prostrate juniper. We all know how church grounds can become rugged looking because of no attention. The committee fails to get out there Saturday afternoon. Well let me tell you a carpet of prostrate juniper will make everyone happy. I've set out juniper in just such a place. Over the years this plant with its low branches, and its thick tuft of green needle-like growth has filled in to create an effect that now looks good. All that is required as time rolls is a light cutting back of wild growth.

Another superb ground cover is one that grows wild all over the world. If you took an airplane trip to Russia, Siberia, back to Alaska, Canada, down to Montana, back to Mt. Lassen in California, etc., and came down in certain places you would see the identical plant. It is called the Kinnik-kinnick or arctostaphylos. It is a dwarf evergreen, a barberry which produces striking red berries. The leaves are lead-gray green, its blossoms pinkish, and its berries shiny red.

KINNICK-KINNICK

Where could you use such a plant in your garden? The Kinnik-kinnick will cover a slope, a wide parking strip, a broad sweep of ground in front of taller flowering shrubs. It will serve to keep down blowing sand. This shrub will grow near the seacoast, it will grow where summers are hot and winters

DICHONDRA

Once 'Rich Man's Turf'
Now 'Everyman's Turf'

Editor's Note: This article has been compiled from data developed through the research activities of the John L. Bunch Co., at their San Gabriel experimental and growing grounds.

By JOHN HENRY

Recent improvements in the planting, fertilizing and marketing of dichondra have overnight converted it from a "Rich Man's Turf" to "Everyman's Turf." Now, every home owner can quickly plant and maintain his own dichondra lawn.

LOWER SEED PRICES

Through the experimental efforts of the largest grower of dichondra for seed purposes, a new triple-treated seed has been produced that has a "sure-fire" germination of three to six days. With the new seed the grower is able to cut his planting and growing costs, increase his production and double his sales, all of which resulted in a substantial cut in the consumer price of dichondra seed.

SEVENTY DAY LAWS

With seed prices reduced, new planting techniques were possible. The lower priced seed made it practical to broadcast dichondra seed by hand, the same as grass seed, and with the quick germinating seed, owners can have a complete, perfect lawn in seventy days.

SHAKER CONTAINERS

The new seeds are packaged for action. They come in bottle containers with perforated metal covers so that the seed may be broadcast by shaking the container. Each container has 50,000 or more seeds and two containers, or 100,000 seeds will plant a 1000 square foot area, giving each square foot about 100 seeds. (An area of 1000 square feet is equal to a lawn 40 feet wide and 25 feet deep.) This new method of planting permits any owner to rake, roll and plant a complete lawn of 1000 to 3000 square feet in one afternoon. Just imagine the time and labor saved over the former method of tuft planting from flats of dichondra, which sometimes took weeks.

EASY TO FERTILIZE

A rich in nitrogen fertilizer has been compounded and perfected that replaces the manures formerly used that carried so many active weed seeds directly into the dichondra. The new fertilizer is called "Dichondra Fertilizer No. 1," and is sprayed on the lawn with a foot-proof syphon-spray designed just for dichondra. Lawns of 1000 square feet can be fertilized in thirty minutes by any housewife.

LESS WATER THAN GRASS

During the first seventy days after planting, dichondra must be watered daily. Then it may be watered three times a week. Grass is usually watered once, and in hot weather, twice a day, even when a mature lawn.

THREE MOWINGS A YEAR

Dichondra requires little mowing or edging. Three cuttings a year are sufficient, although several extra cuttings may be necessary to keep the lawn smooth and velvety.

NO INSECT DISEASES

No doctoring for "moths," "sod worms" or fungus is necessary as dichondra is not affected by insects or fungus diseases.

FLLOURISHES IN SHADE

Dichondra is the only turf that flourishes in the sun or shade. For that reason it can be planted under trees, bushes, inside covered patios, and in any shaded area.

SOIL NO HANDICAP

The adaptability of dichondra to any soil is one of its unique characteristics. It flourishes in acid or alkaline soils in silt, clay, adobe, sand or decomposed granite. If the soil is deficient or poor, one or two extra applications of fertilizer will overcome the deficiency.

LOW PLANTING COST

The cost of planting and fertilizing 1000 square feet of dichondra is about $15.25. This figure includes 100,000 seed, a package of "Dichondra Fertilizer No. 1" and $3.50 for the special syphon-spray, which should only be figured once, if larger areas are planned. A lawn planted with good, weed-free grass seed would cost as much, or more.

LITTLE WEEDING REQUIRED

The new lawn should be weeded every two weeks for seventy days. Then it should have a monthly inspection and weeding. The monthly inspection will permit an owner to locate any "oxalis" in the lawn. It is a vicious little weed with yellow flowers and must be dug out and burned at once. The other weeds are easy to handle.

Treat Seeds to Prevent Disease

Many parasites and plant diseases remain upon the outer coats of seeds for long periods. When these seeds are planted and germinate, the parasites and diseases take over. To prevent this tragedy it is a good plan to top dress or coat the seeds with an organic mercury preparation. Semesan, uspulim, and Bayer dipdust serve this purpose. All that is required is to take a pinch of one of these materials, drop it in a glass, then drop in the seeds, seal the glass, and shake vigorously. The idea is to get a coat of the mercury on the seed. It is the mercury that discourages or kills the fungus and insect parasites without injuring the growing tiny plant breaking into life from the seed.

struction. Solicit his aid and guidance and you can't fail to have a thriving dichondra lawn.

SELF REPAIRING

The "King of Turfs" is a permanent asset. It re-seeds and rejuvenates itself yearly, and by means of fast growing runners it keeps itself constantly in repair. For this reason constant treading and abuse do not injure the turf.

INCREASES HOME VALUES

Many foresighted buyers pay a premium for a home that has dichondra lawns. They know that dichondra will give them a beautiful ever-green, velvety, hardy turf besides saving them hundreds of hours of time and labor each year that a grass lawn would require.

Trinity Mines

If Gold Era Stories
Thrill you, Follow the Old Trinity Trail
From Redding

By EVELYN SLACK GIST

For the Trinity Mines, third in California's trio of Argonaut districts, turn left at Redding via the old Trinity Trail, familiar to travelers today as U.S. 299. It climbs through the Trinity foothills to Shasta (6 miles), Whiskeytown (10 miles) and Weaverville (50 miles), roughly following a path blazed by Indians which trappers and miners of the 1840's beat into a well-traveled route.

Along it mail and bullion was first carried on horseback. By the late 1850's stage coaches were rumbling along it over the Buckhorn-Grass Valley Creek Road, built between Redding and Weaverville. The first stage coach to reach Weaverville was an event of such magnitude that the citizens went out in buggies and on horseback, led by a German-Brass Band, to greet and escort it into camp.

SHASTA TYPICAL

Shasta is a typical brick and iron door camp of our golden era. Isaac Roop, Master of the state's first Masonic Lodge, once lived in Shasta as did Joaquin Miller who tangled with the horse-thief relatives of his Indian wife and landed in the camp's log jail built into a hill back of the present Litch store.

Most of the ancient structures, now picturesque ruins, are being restored since a section of the old town has been set aside as an historic State Park. Many still retain their heavy iron doors and shutters, used as protection against bandits and Indians who added to the camp's early turbulence. During the 1850's bands of painted braves in war regalia are said to have staged war dances on that part of the main street now called U.S. 299.

100 TEAMS

By mid-1849 Shasta was a distributing center for the Trinity Diggins, and known as the head of "Whoa Navigation." As many as 100 freight teams could be counted in a single night. Shouts, astonishing profanity and jerkin line reins attended the maneuvering of these three-wagon trains drawn by 10 or 12 horses. Shasta reached the height of its prosperity between 1852 and 1857 when the local merchants were sending out $100,000 in gold dust every week.

By 1855 there were nine cemeteries and the camp boasted the widest street and the longest row of brick business houses (around 28) in the entire Argonaut country.

TWO SPRINGS

The site was first used by Oregonians who came down the Sacramento Trail in the summer of 1849. Two free-flowing springs made it a choice camp site and inspired its original name (Reading Springs), which also honored Major Pierson B. Reading. By late winter between 500 and 600 hundred people had nailed together flimsy structures. The following year the Trinity House and the St. Charles Hotel, were erected and the name changed to Shasta. In 1851 Shasta was chosen county seat but vigilante committees were dealing out justice to renegades.

By 1852 there were seven hotels and the only post office in Shasta County. At this period practically every building was canvas over wooden frames. That December fire nearly leveled them. In June of 1853 another fire destroyed $500,000 worth of property in half an hour.

STATE PARK

Three buildings earmark the old days. The restored Shasta State Memorial Building, erected in 1855, served as the Court House in 1862. The restored jail in the basement has the original floor and steel bars. The Masonic Hall was the first erected in the state. It is still in use by the Western Star Lodge No. 2. Peter Lassen brought its first charter overland from Missouri by ox cart in the early 1850's. On a steep hill back of the town the Dr. B. F. Shurtliff century-old residence is still in use. Dr. Shurtliff was the camp's first mayor and Shasta's physician for 25 years.

Travel on to Whiskeytown. The highway marker designates it as Shilling. In 1881 there was an attempt made toward calling the site Blair. At another time Stella was proposed. The resident, entirely male until 1852, was served by pack trains from Shasta and later by an ox team driven by W. H. Baker. Three events are listed historically. In 1852 the first white woman arrived, in 1853 a bartender was lynched for shooting a fellow citizen and in the late 1850's a certain Bon Mix erected a commodious hotel, which burned and was rebuilt. It still stands as does an ancient house said to have been built of lumber brought around the Horn.

STAGE STATION

As you jog on west you pass the site of the Tower House stage station and the cutoff reaching French Gulch.

Weaverville was the Queen of the Trinity Mines. Its scenic beauty is almost unchanged after more than a century. Locust trees and spiral stairways of Bavarian design, broad second-story galleries and quaint doorways earmark a period when 2000 gold-hungry miners dug, spent and battled over the region's yield of a quarter billion in dust and nuggets.

Here once flourished a Chinatown to rival that of San Francisco. Nestling in scenery first penetrated during California's Golden Era stands an ancient Chinese Temple older and finer than any in the Bay City. Wun Lum Miao (Temple amidst clouds and forest) stands as a memento of those Chinese who once mined the Trinity hills.

CHINESE TEMPLE

The first Weaverville Temple, built in 1852, burned. The present Joss House (the vernacular American term derived from the fact joss sticks were burned as a sacrificial offering) dates from 1874. When it was dedicated white miners and all the camp's dignitaries were invited and served slim goblets of French champagne and Havana cigars packed in from San Francisco. Not a single iron nail was used in this modest wooden temple constructed of native pine and Douglas fir and patterned exactly after those in Canton.

In this Wun Lum Miao, now under the guardianship of the State Park Commission, Chinese offered sacrifices to their own gods while in a foreign land.

If stories of California's Golden Era thrill you, follow the old Trinity Trail from Redding. You'll be rewarded.

are cold. It will grow in adobe too. When I was giving radio talks for NBC a while back they had me landscape their building up on San Bruno Mountain out of San Francisco, the sight of their radio tower. Well that mountain hidden in thick fog part of the year, under full sun much of the year, wind-blown every day, and a rocky desert as far as water is concerned offered a home from which most plants would recoil. Every drop of water on that hill had to be brought from the city below. What kind of a plant did I select? The Kinnik-kinnik. It has grown well and today makes a fine ground cover.

PLANTING STRIP

Then there is the problem of the wide planting strip. Too wide for a mass planting of shrubs, unsuited for flowers, but one requiring full coverage. Here the famous St. Johnswort, hypericum fills the bill. This plant will spread, crowd out all others, and will take over any plot given to it. St. Johnswort is a determined grower. Its roots are able to creep through clay, adobe, and in gravel soil. The plant can establish itself in full sun, in shade, especially if that shade comes in the afternoon. The most suited ground cover hypericum is variety calycinum.

All that is required of the gardener in his management of his planting of St. Johnswort is that once a year he gets on his knees, cuts the old stems right down to the ground, and let the new shoots take over. By cutting off the old each spring, he keeps the plot free of red spider and other mites who love to take over the neglected spot. Notice that word neglected. That is one of the great charms of the hypericum. Once the stand has become established the gardener does not have to nurse or pamper. St. Johnswort is an independent.

PERIWINKLE

Vinca or Periwinkle is an old favorite used a great deal as a ground cover. It grows happiest where the sun shines on it only for part of the day. Out in the full day sun the leaves lose their rich green, take on a yellow tone and fail to produce blooms.

There are two types, the big leaf and the small leaf. These are perennials of course, their roots spread, and each spring, or with the advent of plenty of water, new shoots appear from the root crown. On these new shoots the pale blue, or white flowers appear.

For its proper care an annual pruning is recommended. Periwinkle comes both in good green and variegated form.

Now let us think of the ground cover that creeps and hugs the soil. The native strawberry deserves first place. It gives a crop that is edible both to birds and man. The flowers of the wild strawberry is very attractive, and the leaves turn brilliant red in fall.

DICHONDRA

Dichondra for many makes a satisfactory ground cover. It requires regular watering, and an occasional feeding. Once the stand is established dichondra will tolerate no weeds. You must tolerate no slugs or snails in it. Use baits.

Ajuga, the bugle-weed, is splendid as a ground cover. It has blue flowers, its growth is dominant and will fill the area completely. Lippia grass is an old standby. Once it is established the plants are there for good. It is tough, children can play football on it; gardeners can forget to water it for months. But if lippia gets water in the summer it grows lush and stays soft green.

Chamamile is too touchy, everything has to be just right to make it grow well. There are other plants which serve as ground covers. In the shady place there is baby's tears. In the fog belt spargula moss is good.

COSTUME DESIGNER

A glamour occupation that demands brains, initiative and talent, costume designing offers limitless possibilities to those gals who have what it takes. One who has it is Edith Head, top designer at the Paramount Studios. A Searchlight, Nevada, Miss, Edith came to California to study at the Otis Art Center in Los Angeles. She began in wardrobe department at Paramount, became assistant to designer Travis Banton and eventually ran whole show. Designer must know how to sketch, the uses of various fabrics, and have feel for line and color. Oddity: many top dress designers can't sew. With clothing now California's fifth industry, the demand for talented designers is constantly growing. Salaries for those who qualify are sky high. Art school training not required, but a great help. Essential qualities of good designer can't be taught, but those with native talent still require much training before able to satisfy quality organizations. Many small houses will place promising newcomers on trial basis. Practically all will look at submitted drawings.

In this feature, Magazine California each issue salutes a noteworthy California woman in a worthwhile profession.

Plant Annuals

Now is a good time to squeeze in new annuals. Where a summer flower has passed its day, dig it up, thrash up the soil, put down a pinch of new compost, even old manure, then set out a new annual right in that spot. This is a trick of keeping the garden a perennial flower show.

Milk Products Are 'White Gold'

Milk and other dairy products, the so-called "White Gold" of California, provide direct employment for 300,000 Californians. An additional 400,000 depend upon the industry also for the greater part of their income.

Now's the Time

To Think of Those WINTER FURS

By HELEN WEILL, Fashion Editor

So now 'tis To-morrow . . . but not to-day, 'cause you and I are a wintin' to hie ourselves into something to make us feel gay . . . and having promised you that I'd jump right into Winter and Fall—I'm going to start with the Warmest for the Coldest, and the smartest for the year!

You've guessed it right! Furs! And summer is the time to think of Furs—for when the summer sun is the hottest, is the time to consider winter furs, that is the time when new styles are decreed.

And this season, they are even more exciting than ever before . . . how these designers can create the illusion of a fabric in the newest of style, and still give us the gorgeousness of fine pelt is beyond me . . . Some of the prices are too, but there are others that are just as lovely and fashionable as Mi-lady could ever dream.

NEW TRENDS

In the new trends you'll find several novel ones. One designer insists on establishing the slightly lifted waist. Another gives us the back that is both full but belted, with a hip that curves very slightly. Some of the sleeves literally blossom into puffs . . . most wonderful in full soft fur.

However, even the most elegant and luxurious furs seem to carry a casual or almost sporty air.—Most unusual for furs. But as I said, "the new interpretations are exciting."

As if Mink could be improved upon, it surpasses itself again with new pastel shades. They are unbelievable . . . and made up carry the luminous sheen that is endemic to Mink.

LEOPARD

Now for some of the "to-look-fors," I want to first mention a fur that has not been out-in-front for a long time . . . tho it is always good, and young looking. That is the leopard, really a regal jungle cat of the Somaliland leopard.

This is handsome made up as a swaggar coat. Ah, there's a new-old word to watch for. The front of the swaggar has wide tuxedo folds. The very deep cuffed sleeves are set in wide armholes that rise very high on smooth molded shoulders. A proud brilliant scarf of taffeta caught in a huge bow at the neck completes this most purring picture.

ALASKA SEAL

A very practical durable wrap that Mi-lady in the cooler spot will adore is the Alaska Seal. Can you picture glimmering Matara Alaska Seal designed in a copy of a guard man's coat? With but moderate fullness at the back, it is held by a half belt. And true to period style, the pockets at the hip are quite high.

An interesting combination of furs is black on black. This one is a Persian lamb (Afghanistan) trimmed with Alaska Seal. The collar, cuffs, and black belt are all of the seal.

An Afghanistan broadtail is of gray. The most unusual use of furs is used on the sleeves of this exquisite wrap. Several circles of them push up the sleeve puffs.

RUSSIAN BROADTAIL

A Russian broadtail is dyed black. Speaking of handling fur like fabric. This certainly does. With the slightly higher waist line and rounding hips, the full back has a half belt.

As if Mink could be improved upon, it surpasses itself again with new pastel shades. They are unbelievable . . . and made up carry the luminous sheen that is endemic to Mink.

One dream boat of a thing is full length with a hem that has a 90 inch sweep. This is the "Lucetta" ranch mink in luminous grey.

Imagine a jacket of mink that has a casual look! This jaunty jacket has a curved band that rolls into revers at the front. The back is decidedly bloused, truly a sports model.

ALL PRICES

One could go on and on about furs—and on and on IN them too—and there is always one for YOU—'cause furs are like fabrics too. They come in all price brackets—and with the new wonders that are being performed in their design one does find surprises.

For instance, if Handsome Husband cannot make the mink stole range . . . show him the muskrat stole that is dyed to match the mink—and hard to whose portrayal of the mother in "My Son John" will win her special awards, will play the role of Sarah Bernhardt . . . Claire Booth Luce's new play to open on Broadway titled "Saints for Now" will win the Pulitzer Prize for 1953! . . . Watch for Shelley Winters and Vittorio Gassman to divorce before Oct. 27th! . . . Fifi D'Orsay will make a successful film comeback next month . . . Ida Lupino will soon form a producing company with her two ex-husbands, Louis Hayward and Collier Young, and her present husband, Howard Duff! . . . The life of Orchestra Leader Glenn Miller, who was killed in the last war, will be tell which IS mink, unless you are an authority.

MUSKRAT

Other furs in greater demand than ever, and more beautiful in design, include: kolinsky, muskrat, china mink, martin, sealine, coney fur, Moleskin, squirrel, fox (in several choice of colors), Manchurian wolf.

With them the wee fur hats matching, will be good again too—Remember that if you're about to select your bag to "go along," an alligator is always stunning with glossy fur . . . Somehow they are go-togethers!

P.S.

A little off the subject of furs, but I just wanted to tell you I've found something new and terribly practical in the apron line. It's called Cutler's Cuvver-ups. It's the coolest apron I've ever worn, cool seersucker combined with film. They're designed to prevent searing with a hot iron or melting when worn too close to a hot stove. They may be washed in boiling, sudsy water. No ironing necessary. An ideal combination of fast color seersucker and Goodyear boilable Vinylfilm.

filmed with Van Johnson in the lead . . . Betty Grable will retire after her present film "Farmer Takes a Wife" is completed . . . Hollywood Boulevard will soon have a towering statue of Sid Grauman, the man who built the Chinese Theater and developed the art of the "World Premier" . . . Don Reed will star in a new series titled "I Spy" . . . Charles Coburn should watch his health . . . Watch for the Parent Teachers Association to engineer a boycott on all "crime" films which children under 16 are permitted to attend!

P.S.

If you would like to have some good vocational training when and if needed or would just like to take proper care of your family when experienced nursing is needed, drop a line to Criswell, c/o Magazine California, Shafter, Calif. You'll be sent complete details on an excellent practical nursing correspondence course.
